

---

Contents

Preface	xi
Introduction	1
1. The Early Development of International Law and the “Discovery” of the Western Hemisphere	5
2. Status and Rights of the Indigenous Peoples of the Western Hemisphere and the Origins of the “Sacred Trust of Civilization”	21
Spanish Perspective	21
English Perspective	30
Beginning of International Accountability for the Protection of Indigenous Peoples	33
3. The League of Nations and the “Sacred Trust of Civilization”	39
Mandate System	41
Native Inhabitants Clause	41
4. The United Nations and the “Sacred Trust of Civilization”	47
Trusteeship System	48

Non-Self-Governing Territories Provision	48
Belgian Thesis	49
International Labour Office Conventions	52
Working Group on Indigenous Populations	58
Organization of American States	68
5. International Courts and Indigenous Peoples	81
Cayuga Indians (Great Britain) v. United States	82
Island of Palmas Case	84
Legal Status of Eastern Greenland	86
Western Sahara Case	87
6. Special Legal Doctrines Used by the United States to Restrict the Right of Indian Peoples to Own Land and Be Self-Governing	95
Case Law	95
Federal Indian Policy	109
7. Overview of Theories Justifying Colonization	123
8. Conclusion	129
Appendix 1. League of Nations Covenant, Article 23	143
Appendix 2. The Charter of the United Nations, Chapter XI, Declaration Regarding Non- Self-Governing Territories, Article 73	145
Appendix 3. Draft Declaration of Principles for the Defence of the Indigenous Nations and Peoples of the Western Hemisphere	147
Appendix 4. Draft Universal Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples	151
Bibliography	157
Books	157
Law Review Articles	160
Index	163