

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	xi
Notes on Contributors	xiii
Introduction	xv
Chapter 1 War-Stopping Techniques in the Falklands	1
Christina Parajon
I. Introduction	1
II. History of the Conflict	2
III. The War	7
IV. War-Stopping Techniques	9
A. U.S. Shuttle Diplomacy	9
1. London Round One	10
2. Buenos Aires Round One	11
3. London Round Two	13
4. Buenos Aires Round Two	13
B. The Peruvian Mediation	16
C. The Secretary-General's Good Offices	18
V. Appraisal of War-Stopping Measures	20
A. Disputants' Domestic Constraints	20
B. The Haig Mediation: Problems of Timing, Credibility, Process, and Mixed Messages	24
1. Timing: Overcoming Optimism Bias	24
2. Credibility and Authority	27
3. Process: The Shuttling War-Stopper	28
4. Mixing Messages	29
C. Belaunde's Mediation: Problems of Interest and Process	31
1. Interests of the Mediator	31
2. Process: Detachment	33
D. UN Involvement	34
1. Timing: The Inflection Point	34
2. Credibility: The Taint of Past Failures	35
3. Credibility: The Secretary-General with Only His Good Offices	36
4. Process: Mixing Enforcement and Mediation	36
VI. Conclusion and Lessons Learned	38

Chapter 2	Nagorno Karabakh: A War without Peace	43
	Nicholas W. Miller
I.	Introduction	43
II.	Background	43
III.	The History of Nagorno Karabakh	44
	A. The Russian Empire	45
	B. World War I and Caucasian Independence	46
IV.	A Century of Conflict	47
	A. The Soviet Period	47
	B. The Road to War	48
	C. Collapse of Soviet Power and the Period of Open Warfare	50
V.	Failed War-Stopping (1991-1994)	54
	A. Yeltsin-Nazarbayev Mediation (1991)	54
	B. Turkish and Iranian Mediation Efforts (1992)	56
	C. CSCE/OSCE Mediation Efforts Begin (1992)	58
	D. Competition between Russia and the CSCE (1992-1994)	60
	E. 1993 CSCE/OSCE Peace Plan	62
	F. Renewed Russian Mediation (Summer 1993)	63
VI.	War-Stopping without Peace (1994-2008)	64
	A. Competitive Russian and CSCE Mediation Efforts (1994)	65
	B. Cooperation between CSCE/OSCE and Russia (1994-1996)	67
	C. France, Russia, and the United States Take Over Mediation (1997-Present)	68
	D. A Decade without Progress (1998-2008)	69
VII.	Analysis and Conclusions	70
Chapter 3	War and Peace in Rwanda	77
	Tom Dannenbaum
I.	Introduction	77
II.	A Brief History of Rwanda Prior to the Conflict	78
	A. Rwanda under Colonial Rule	79
	B. Tutsi Exodus and the Rise of a New Leadership in Exile	81
	C. Postcolonial Rwanda	83
III.	The War between the RPF and the Government of Rwanda, 1990-1993	86
	A. Early Skirmishes	86
	B. Early Efforts to Stop the War	87
	C. The Inefficacy of the Regional Efforts at War-Stopping	87

D.	Explaining the Failure of the Regional War-Stopping Efforts in 1991	89
E.	Democratization, Political Fragmentation, and Radicalization in Kigali	91
F.	The Internationally Mediated Arusha Peace Process	93
IV.	Stalling, Nonimplementation, and Genocide	101
A.	Stalling and Nonimplementation	101
B.	The Assassination of Habyarimana, Genocide, and the Withdrawal of Peacekeepers	104
C.	RPF Victory and the Displacement of the War	106
V.	Why Did Arusha Fail and What Could Have Been Done Differently?	108
VI.	Conclusion—Lessons for Peacemakers and War-Stoppers	117
Chapter 4	War-Stopping and Peacemaking during the Malayan Emergency (1948-1960)	121
	Colby E. Barrett
I.	Introduction	121
II.	Early History and Geography of the Malayan Peninsula (30,000 B.C.-1924)	123
A.	Geography and Settlement	123
B.	European Occupation	124
III.	The Foundations of Communism and World War II (1925-1947)	125
A.	The Rise of the MCP	126
B.	British Defeat	126
C.	Japanese Occupation	127
D.	Malayan Resistance and Lai Tek	128
E.	The Postwar Era	129
IV.	Early British Failures and Innovations (1948-1951)	130
A.	The World Setting	130
B.	MCP Strategy and Tactics	131
C.	British Strategy and Operations	132
D.	British Tactics	134
E.	The Briggs Plan	135
V.	Tactical, Operational, and Strategic Victory (1952-1957)	137
A.	The Arrival of General Sir Gerald Templer	137
B.	Politics	138
C.	Military Doctrine and Operations	139
D.	Police, Intelligence, and Information Services	140
E.	Negotiations and Independence	142
VI.	Aftermath and Evaluation (1958-1963)	142
VII.	Conclusion	146

Chapter 5	Separatist Insurgency in Southern Thailand: An Approach to Peacemaking	147
	Jonathan Ross-Harrington
I.	Introduction	147
II.	Conflict History	148
	A. From Annexation to Organized Insurgency (1906-1959)	149
	B. The Height of Organized Resistance (1959-1981)	151
	C. A New Approach: Government Intervention, Simmering Tensions, and Insurgent Fragmentation (1981-2001)	153
	D. Enter Thaksin: A Breakdown of Relative Stability (2001-2004)	154
III.	Current Phase: 2004-Present	156
	A. Critical Events	156
	B. Key Trends	159
	C. Insurgent Groups and Violent Actors	162
	1. Barisan Revolusi Nasional-Coordinate (BRN-C)	162
	2. Gerakan Mujahideen Islam Pattani (GMIP)	163
	3. Pattani United Liberation Organization (PULO) and New-PULO	163
	4. Paramilitaries and Militias	163
	5. Foreign Elements	164
	D. Ideology, Objectives, and Strategy of the Insurgents	164
IV.	A Framework for Understanding Violence and Promoting Peace in Southern Thailand	166
	A. Conflict Drivers: Identity, Behavior, and Structure	166
	1. Identity	166
	2. Behavior	168
	3. Structure	169
	B. The Evolving Role of Religion as an Independent Conflict Driver	169
	C. The Dynamic Interaction of Conflict Drivers	172
V.	Past Approaches to War-Stopping and Peacemaking in Southern Thailand	172
	A. The General Phibun Model	173
	B. The General Prem Model	174
	C. The Thaksin Model	175
VI.	Peacemaking Strategies in Southern Thailand	176
	A. Challenges to a Lasting Peace	177
	B. Elements of a Comprehensive Peacemaking Strategy in Southern Thailand	178
	1. Draining the Bathwater: Addressing Long-Standing Grievances of the General Population	178

2.	A New Approach to Counterinsurgency (COIN) Operations	180
3.	Relieving Intercommunal Tensions: Locating Middle-Range and Grassroots Agents of Peace	181
4.	Malaysian Cooperation	182
VII.	Conclusion	183
Chapter 6	War-Stopping and Peacemaking in Mozambique	185
	Caroline A. Gross
I.	Introduction	185
II.	Colonial History and Independence, 1498-1975	185
A.	Portuguese Presence	185
B.	The Struggle for Independence	186
III.	Mozambican Civil War, 1976-1992	187
A.	Causes and Parties	187
1.	Frelimo	187
2.	Renamo	189
B.	Cold War Effects	190
C.	War Operations	191
1.	Renamo Tactics and Goals	191
2.	Frelimo's Response: Too Little, Too Late	192
IV.	Negotiating an End to War, 1988-1992	194
A.	Failed Negotiations	194
1.	Nkomati Accord	194
2.	Pretoria Declaration	195
B.	The Road to Rome	196
C.	Rome	200
V.	From War-Stopping to Peacemaking, 1992 Onward	205
A.	ONUMOZ	205
B.	Postelection Period	206
C.	Factors that Helped Maintain the Peace	206
1.	Lack of Precious Resources	207
2.	Demobilization First, Elections Second	207
3.	Incentives for Renamo to Stay Out of the Bush	208
4.	Remarkable Economic Development and Optimism	208
5.	Lack of an Ethnic Element to the Conflict	208
6.	Support—and Exhaustion—of the Population	209
VI.	Conclusion	209
Index		213