

Contents

Table of Cases	xvii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1: Towards a Thin Theory of the Good
1. Introduction	6
2. Value and Point of View	7
3. Nussbaum and the Notion of a Human Life	10
4. Rawls and the Concept of the Person	17
5. Drawing Fact and Value Together: Experience and Purpose	23
6. In Defence of the Proposed Theory of Value	30
7. Judgements of Priority	38
8. Conclusion	46
Chapter 2: The Justification of Fundamental Rights
1. Introduction	47
2. The Presuppositions of Agency and Fundamental Rights	47
3. Nagel's Strategy: Impersonal and Personal Reasons	53
4. Equal Importance and the Justification of Fundamental Rights	57
5. Objections	65
6. Conclusion	74
Chapter 3: Determining Our Unconditional Obligations
1. Introduction	75
2. Unanswered Questions About the Content of Rights	75
3. Conditional and Unconditional Rights	78
4. Translating Conditional Rights into Unconditional Rights	83
5. The Assignment of Duties	91
6. The Overall Decision Framework	98
7. Conclusion	100
Chapter 4: Justifying the Judicial Review of Fundamental Rights
1. Introduction	102
2. Theories of Judicial Review	103
3. Disagreement, Rights, and Judicial Review	108

4. A Thin Rights-based Theory of Judicial Review	115
5. Reaching Optimal Decisions Concerning Fundamental Rights: The Judiciary or the Legislature?	119
6. Socio-Economic Rights and Judicial Review	128
7. Conclusion	132
Chapter 5: Judicial Review in Practice: The Reasonableness Approach and its Shortcomings
1. Introduction	135
2. Constitutional Interpretation in South Africa	136
3. Grootboom : Reasonableness and the Minimum Core	139
4. Treatment Action Campaign : Reducing Rights to Reasonableness	152
5. An Alternative Reading of the Jurisprudence?	166
6. Khosa : Reasonableness and the Confusion of Scope and Content	170
7. Conclusion	176
Chapter 6: Political Philosophy in Action: Developing the Minimum Core Approach to Socio-Economic Rights
1. Introduction	178
2. Linking Political Philosophy and Legal Doctrine	179
3. The Case for a Minimum Core Approach	183
4. Objections to the Minimum Core Approach	197
5. The Notion of Priority and the Minimum Core	208
6. Resources, Impossibility, and Rights	215
7. The Availability of Resources	225
8. Conclusion	234
Chapter 7: Conclusion: Implications for Policy in South Africa and Beyond
1. The Right to Food in the United States, India, and South Africa	238
2. The Right to Adequate Housing in the United Kingdom, India, and South Africa	248
3. Conclusion	260
Bibliography	262
Index	273