

13 FEB 1950

TABLE OF CONTENTS

TABLE OF STATUTES	xvii
TABLE OF CASES	xxii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	xli
INTRODUCTION. LAW AND ITS SOURCES	1-66
Two views of the genesis of law	1-2
The Austinian sovereign—sole source of law	2-3
The analytical standpoint	3-5
Modern criticisms of it	5-6
Influence of Austinian jurisprudence	6-7
Its acknowledged weaknesses	7-8
The Byzantine tradition	8-10
The feudal and the monarchical principles in England	10-12
The revolt of rationalism	12-14
The revolt against rationalism	14-15
The theological reaction	15
The historical reaction	15-16
Savigny's 'pessimism'	16-18
Jurisprudence and biology	18-20
Sociology and the 'organic school': and comparative jurisprudence	20-21
Recent tendencies	21-64
'Revived' Natural Law	22-23
R. Stammler	23-24
J. Kohler	24-25
The French Natural Law School	25-27
The later Sociological School	27-39
E. Ehrlich	28-32
Roscoe Pound	32-39
'Realistic' jurisprudence	39-51
L. Duguit	39-41
American Realism	41-48
Scandinavian Realism	48-51
H. Kelsen: The Theory of Pure Law	52-64
Method of regarding sources of law	64-66
CHAPTER I. CUSTOM: NATURE AND ORIGIN	67-111
I. NATURE OF CUSTOM	67-79
Habit and social custom	67-68
Legal custom and its sanction	68-69

LAW JUSTICE (ICJ)

Prof. C.G. WEERAMANTRY

The Austinian view	69-70
Custom and 'positive morality'	70
Non-litigious custom	70-71
1. The Common Law as custom	71-79
Bracton	71-72
Blackstone: particular and general customs	72-74
Family Law	74-75
The assumptions of the Common Law	75-76
Constitutional Law	76-77
2. Foreign custom	77-79
II. ORIGIN OF CUSTOM	79-111
1. Theory of custom in Roman Law	80-86
The genius of Roman Law unsympathetic to custom	80-81
Mos, consuetudo, and consensus utentium	82-83
Reasonableness	83
Antiquity	84-85
Scope of operation	85-86
2. The Historical School	87-93
The Volksgeist	88-89
Customs of ruling classes	89-92
Customs local and international	92-93
3. Development of Custom	93-111
Inner and outer manifestations	93-95
Corporate life of society	95-96
'Conviction' or 'practice' as generating custom?	96
Rational and irrational customs	96-101
Imitation	101-103
Tarde's thesis	103-104
Suggestive influence of imitation	104-107
Examples of imitative customs: borough customs	107-111
CHAPTER II. CUSTOM: INTERPRETATION AND APPLICATION	112-160
I. INTERPRETATION OF CUSTOM	112-129
Juristic control of custom	112
1. View of the Historical School: Juristenrecht subordinate to Volksrecht	112-119
Practical objections to this view	114-115

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ix

Influence of jurists on development of law: examples	116-118
How far are jurists 'representatives of the people'?	118-119
2. Views of certain comparative jurists: Custom the product of Juristenrecht	120-126
Maine	120
E. Lambert	121-122
E. Ehrlich	122-123
English Common Law	124-126
3. Action and reaction of customary law and expert interpretation	126-129
Custom of sociological origin: the jurist 'finds the law' but influences it	126-129
II. APPLICATION OF CUSTOM	129-146
Custom contains its own legal validity	129-130
It is recognized as law if it satisfies certain tests	130
Custom exceptional and limited	130
Legality	130-132
Proof of existence	132-133
Antiquity	133-135
Trade customs (usages)	135-136
Continuance	136
Peaceable enjoyment	136-137
Obligatory force	137-138
Certainty	138-139
Consistency	139
Reasonableness	140-146
Conclusions as to tests of custom	146
SUMMARY	147-151
EXCURSUS A. CUSTOM AS LAW	152-156
EXCURSUS B. JUDICIAL TESTS OF FOREIGN CUSTOM	157-160
CHAPTER III. PRECEDENT: NATURE AND HISTORY	161-235
I. THEORY OF JUDICIAL DECISION	161-187
1. Two opposing views—deductive and inductive methods	161-163
2. Precedent in Roman Law	163-178
The Orators	163-164
Praetorian and juristic law	165-168
The iudices	168-171

Force of imperial decisions	171-174
Mos iudiciorum	174-177
3. Precedent in modern Continental law	178-187
Extra-judicial doctrine	178-184
General theory of precedents in French law	184-187
II. GROWTH OF PRECEDENT IN ENGLISH LAW	187-235
Bracton	187-190
The Year Books	190-203
Sixteenth- and seventeenth-century Reports	203-207
Coke	207-209
Vaughan's principles	209-210
The eighteenth century	210-211
Lord Mansfield	211-219
Judicial hierarchy in the eighteenth century	220-221
Reports and reporters	221-230
General view of precedent to end of eighteenth century	231-232
Modern doctrine of English law	233-235
CHAPTER IV. PRECEDENT: AUTHORITY AND OPERATION	236-382
I. GENERAL RULES FOR THE APPLICATION OF PRECEDENT IN ENGLISH LAW	236-268
Judges of first instance and magistrates' courts	236-237
Tribunals	237
The Divisional Court of the Queen's Bench	237-239
The Court of Criminal Appeal	239-241
The Court of Appeal	241-249
The Privy Council	249-253
The House of Lords	253-257
Principles of interpretation	257-260
Ratio and Dicta	260-268
II. AUTHORITY OF PRECEDENT	268-285
Authoritative and unauthoritative precedents	268-270
Foreign jurists	270-272
Roman Law	272-274
Private International Law	274-277
Real Property	277-280
Foreign judgements	280-285
III. WORKING OF LEGAL INDUCTION	285-311
At the Bar	285-286
On the Bench	286-290

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xi

In what sense is the judge 'bound'?	290-293
Precedent as against governing principles of Common Law	293-297
Precedent and justice	298-302
How far do judges make law?	302-311
 IV. PRACTICAL WORKING OF PRECEDENTS	 312-359
Reports	312-313
Accidents of litigation	313-314
Overlooked authorities	315-318
Conflicting binding authorities	318-321
Communis error facit ius	321-334
Overruling	334-346
'Certainty' in law	346-356
The theory of precedents in transition	356-359
 SUMMARY	 360-366
 EXCURSUS C. THE SEARCH FOR AUTHORITY	 367-379
 EXCURSUS D. PRECEDENT IN EQUITY	 380-382
 CHAPTER V. EQUITY	 383-425
I. LAW AND JUSTICE	383-388
The ideal of law	383-384
Necessity for a jurisdiction supplementary to law	384-385
How far can legal rules admit exceptions?	385-386
The natural sense of justice	386-388
 II. PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTION OF EQUITY	 388-399
1. Equity in Greek Law	388-392
Plato	388-389
Aristotle	389-391
Practical application of equity in Greek Law	391-392
 2. Equity in Roman Law	 392-399
Influence of Greek philosophy	393
Equity a practical element in Roman Law	393-394
Chief equitable principles of Roman Law	394-397
Criticisms of equity in Roman Law	398-399
 III. EQUITY IN ENGLISH LAW	 399-413
1. Relation between Common Law and Equity	399-406
Equity in royal jurisdiction	399

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Equity in royal courts	399-401
Equity through Common Law forms	401-403
Equity in the Eyre	403-405
Continuous relation between Common Law and Equity	405-406
2. Equity and morality in English Law	406-410
Conscience	406-407
St. Germain	407-408
Canon Law	408-409
Systematization of Equity	409-410
3. Forms of English equitable jurisdiction	410-413
'Things of confidence'	410-411
Fraud	411
Accident	411-412
Giving effect to intentions	412
Tutelary jurisdiction	412
Supplementary remedies	412-413
IV. EQUITY AS A SOURCE OF LAW	413-421
Common Law and Equity not necessarily distinct branches of jurisdiction	413-414
But Equity a necessary source of law	414-415
The rigor acquitatis	415-421
SUMMARY	421-425
CHAPTER VI. LEGISLATION	426-530
I. PLACE OF LEGISLATION AMONG SOURCES OF LAW	426-435
Legislation and 'popular consciousness'	426-427
Social elements in legislation	427
Initiative of the legislature	427-428
Public opinion	428-435
II. FORMS OF LEGISLATION	435-443
Forms of ancient enactments	435-438
Their uncertainty	438-440
Disorder of statutory records and attempts to reform it	441-443
III. FORCE OF LEGISLATION	444-469
1. Growth of principle of binding force of statutes	444-445

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xiii

2. Supposed and real limitations on the force of statutes	445-469
The unlimited power of the legislature	445-446
Law of God	446-447
'Right and reason' and 'control of the Common Law'	447-451
The 'equity of a statute'	451-456
The true 'control of the Common Law'	456-459
International Law	459-462
Impossibility	462
Retrospective and ex post facto legislation, and privilegia	463-469
Non-repeal	469
 IV. SCOPE AND DURATION OF LEGISLATION	 469-482
1. Promulgation	469-472
Present rules as to promulgation	471-472
2. Repeal	472-478
Express repeal	472-474
Repeal by implication	474-475
Expiring laws	475-476
Codifying and consolidating Acts	476-478
3. Desuetude	478-482
 V. GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF STATUTORY INTERPRETATION	 482-503
1. Literal interpretation	482-490
'Style' of statutes	482
Montesquieu's principles	483
Drafting	483-488
Difficulties of literal interpretation	488-490
Context	490
2. The ratio legis	491-503
The 'golden rule'	491-492
The policy of a statute	492-496
Casus omissi	496-502
General estimate of statute and its interpretation	502-503
 VI. STATUTORY INTERPRETATION IN PRACTICE	 503-530
Ratio legis and ratio verborum	503-506
Defects of literal interpretation	506-510
Background of statutes	510-515
The judicial approach	515-518
Inconsistencies of doctrine	518-526
Conclusions	526-530

CHAPTER VII. SUBORDINATE AND AUTONOMIC LEGISLATION	531-613
I. GROWTH OF THE PRINCIPLE OF DEVOLUTION	531-534
Traditional doctrine of delegated powers	531-533
No longer accurate	533
Maitland's view	533-534
II. CHIEF SPHERES OF DELEGATED LEGISLATION	534-554
1. Powers directly delegated by Parliament	534-542
(a) The Privy Council	535-537
(b) Rule-making authorities	537-539
(c) Local Authorities	539
(d) Executive or Departmental legislation	539-542
2. Autonomic powers	542-547
(a) Corporations, Churches, &c.	542-543
Effect of autonomic laws	543-544
(b) Industrial and professional organizations	544-547
3. Forms of subordinate legislation	547-554
III. RELATION BETWEEN SOVEREIGN AND SUBORDINATE LEGISLATION	554-605
1. Constitutional checks	554-584
(a) Publicity and Parliamentary control	554-563
(b) Judicial control	563-584
Doctrine of ultra vires	563-568
By-laws	568-570
Mandamus	571-572
Certiorari	572-575
Prohibition	576-577
Injunction	578-579
Declaration	579-584
2. Practical operation of these checks	584-605
Executive control over Parliamentary legislation	584-586
Ousting the jurisdiction of the courts	586-589
Spirit of Crown litigation	589-590
The Donoughmore Committee	590-591
Growth of Tribunals	591-605
The Franks Committee	593-596
The Council on Tribunals	596-603
Administrative Law in England today	603-605

TABLE OF CONTENTS

xv

SUMMARY

606-613

APPENDIX. REASONABLENESS OF CUSTOM

614-632

INDEX

633