

Contents

Preface	v
Table of Cases	xv
 Part one
KEEPING THE STREAMS OF JUSTICE CLEAR AND PURE
Introduction	3
1 In the face of the Court	5
1 In my own presence	5
2 The Welsh students invade the Court	6
3 The Official Solicitor comes in with the Devil	11
4 The 'laughing gas' does not escape	12
2 The victimisation of witnesses	19
1 The trade union member is deprived of his office	19
2 The tenant is evicted from his home	23
3 Refusing to answer questions	27
1 Two journalists are sent to prison	27
2 The New Statesman is angry	30
4 Scandalising the Court	31
1 Lord Mansfield is criticised	31
2 Mr Justice Avory comes under fire	32
3 We ourselves are told to be silent	33
	ix

5 Disobedience to an order of the Court	36
1 Strict proof	36
2 The three dockers	36
3 The five dockers	39
4 The ward of court	40
6 Prejudicing a fair trial	44
1 'Vampire Arrested'	44
2 The Thalidomide case	45
3 A 'gagging writ'	49
4 The Exclusive Brethren	51
Conclusion	54

Part two

INQUIRIES INTO CONDUCT

Introduction	57
1 Into the conduct of judges	58
1 The judge who talked too much	58
2 The judge who made a mistake	62
2 Into the conduct of ministers	67
3 Into the conduct of directors	74
1 Behind the curtain	74
2 The Pergamon Press	74
3 Can the directors stop it?	78
4 A useful weapon	79
4 Into the conduct of gaming clubs	82
5 Into the conduct of aliens	85
6 Into the delays of lawyers	89
1 Into the Courts of Law	89
2 Can anything be done about arbitrations?	96

Part three

ARREST AND SEARCH

Introduction	101
1 Making an arrest	102
1 The role of the police	102
2 'Come along with me'	103
3 Identification by a photograph	103
4 Should the prosecution tell?	106
5 Unfit to drive	107
2 Making a search	110
Introduction	110
1 Passports withheld	110
2 Search warrants	113
3 The ladies' garments	113
4 The military style operation	115
3 New procedures	123
Introduction	123
1 The pirates – the Anton Piller order	123
2 The bootleggers	127

Part four

THE MAREVA INJUNCTION

Introduction	133
1 We introduce the process	134
1 The start off	134
2 The Mareva itself	135
3 Both sides are heard	136
2 We are reversed	141
1 The Siskina sinks without trace	141
2 We are sunk too like the Siskina	145
3 But not without trace	145

Contents

4 An English-based defendant	147
5 A man is decapitated	148
6 Recommendations thus far ignored	150

Part five

ENTRANCES AND EXITS

Introduction	155
I The common law about aliens	157
Introduction	157
1 The 'black' is set free	157
2 The fugitive from the United States	159
3 The student of 'Scientology'	163
4 Freedom of movement	165
2 Commonwealth citizens	167
Introduction	167
1 Patriots	168
2 Illegal entrants	171
3 Expelled persons	175
4 Overstayers and others	177
3 Exits	179
Introduction	179
1 A move to Jersey	180
2 Dr Wallersteiner, I presume	182
3 The giant chartering group	183

Part six

VENTURES INTO FAMILY LAW

I How I learned the trade	187
1 I become a divorce judge	187
2 Sitting to try divorce cases	188
3 Over to the King's Bench	189

4	On circuit	190
5	Chairmanship of the Divorce Committee	191
6	Things have changed now	193
2	The story of emancipation	194
1	The difference	194
2	The past	195
3	The attitude of the Church	196
4	The effect on the law	197
5	Parliament alters all	200
6	The present status	200

Part seven

THE DESERTED WIFE'S EQUITY

	Introduction	205
1	Invoking Section 17 of the 1882 Act	206
1	A case in chambers	206
2	A piece of minor business	206
3	The first deserted wife comes before me	207
4	My principle is overturned	208
2	Invoking the aid of equity	210
1	Equity comes to the rescue	210
2	A junior wins his spurs	210
3	An outcry amongst the purists	214
3	The Lords triumphant	215
1	The deserted wife is taken to the Lords	215
2	The Lords blow up the deserted wife	218
4	Lady Summerskill takes charge	220
1	Uproar follows	220
2	The Class F charge	221
3	Not a 'bare wife'	222
4	'Battered wives'	223

Contents

Part eight

THE WIFE'S SHARE IN THE HOME

1 The judges introduce it	227
1 A silent revolution	227
2 The sailor gets a share in the proceeds	227
3 The airman's wife gets a share in the house itself	230
4 Making improvements in the house	232
2 The wide principle of fairness	233
1 I put it too widely	233
2 The Lords denounce the wide principle	233
3 The trust concept	235
1 The Lords introduce the concept of a trust	235
2 The trust concept wins the day	236
3 If the husband sells the house	237
4 Will it lead to chaos?	238
5 The outcome	240
4 Where there is no financial contribution	241
1 The gap left by the Lords	241
2 The gap is filled by Parliament	241
3 The judges do what is necessary	242
4 More and more equality	245
Conclusion	246
Epilogue	247
Index	253