

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD.....	iii
PREFACE.....	vi
ABBREVIATIONS.....	viii
LIST OF CONSTITUTIONS AND LEGISLATION.....	x
TABLE OF CASES	xiii
1. INTRODUCTION	1
1.1. Background.....	1
1.1.1 The idea of ‘personal injury’.....	4
1.1.2 Personal injury claims.....	5
1.1.3 Personal injury, in different legal perspectives.....	5
1.2 Objectives of the book	9
1.3 Towards a victim-friendly liability regime.....	10
1.4 The actual issue.....	11
1.5 The issues addressed in the book.....	12
1.6 The assumption	13
1.7 Designing the survey.....	14
1.8 The outline of the book.....	14
1.9 Limitations of the scope.....	15

2	PERSONAL INJURY LAW IN SRI LANKA: THE COMMON
	LAW REMEDY	17
2.1	Introduction.....	17
2.2	The Aquilian action.....	17
2.2.1	The evolution	17
2.2.2	The applicability of the Roman Dutch Law based Aquilian action in Sri Lanka.....	23
2.2.3	Elementary approach to the Aquilian action.....	30
2.2.4	Theoretical approach to the law of delict.....	47
2.3	The rationale of compensation; two birds with one stone ?.....	55
2.3.1	Corrective theory and Compensation.....	55
2.3.2	Deterrence theory and compensation.....	60
2.3.3	Distributive theory and compensation	63
2.4	Judicial alternatives to delictual action; in a nutshell	67
2.4.1	Different objectives; but possible interface between FR and delicts?	68
2.4.2	Specific tests	69
2.4.3	Burden of proof and admissibility of evidence.....	70
2.4.4	Accessibility to justice	71
2.4.5	Assessment of damages; a trusted remedy?.....	71
2.5	The common law action: in a setback?	72
2.6	Recovery of damages: The Motive	76
2.7	Conclusion	78

3 STATUTORY REMEDIES FOR PERSONAL INJURY.....80

3.1	Introduction.....	80
3.2	The Motor Traffic Act	81
3.2.1	Recovery of damages under third party's claim	81
3.2.2	The law on third party	81
3.3	Workmen's Compensation law	88
3.3.1	Workmen's Compensation Act.....	89
3.4	Assistance to and Protection of Victims of Crime and Witnesses Act, No. 4 of 2015 (APVCW Act).....	93
3.4.1	Compensation	94
3.5	Social security provided for personal injury victims: the adequacy	100
3.6	Conclusion	103

4 CHALLENGES IN THE SRI LANKAN LEGAL RESPONSE

TO PERSONAL INJURY: AN INQUIRY INTO ROOT CAUSE .105

4.1	Introduction.....	105
4.2	Organization of the study.....	105
4.2.1	The design.....	106
4.2.2	Objectives of the study.....	107
4.2.3	Thematic guidelines used for interviews	108
4.2.4	Sampling	109
4.2.5	Ethical clearance	109
4.2.6	Studies which have used similar design.....	110
4.2.7	Geographical limitations.....	111
4.3	The Analysis of Findings.....	111

4.3.1	Factual analysis of selected case studies.....	112
4.3.2	Socio- economic background of personal injury victims ..	118
4.4	Expert Opinions	133
4.4.1	Personal injury lawyer's point of view	133
4.4.2	Judge's point of view	136
4.4.3	Insurance agent's view.....	139
4.4.4	The policymaker's point of view	139
4.4.5	Police officer's view	142
4.5	Conclusion	144

5 FAULT ELEMENT IN RECOVERY OF DAMAGES: THE EFFECT.....147

5.1	Introduction.....	147
5.2	The concept of 'Fault'	148
5.2.1	Delictual Fault.....	150
5.3	Ideological shift: a historical battle?	157
5.4	Applicability of fault-based liability in Sri Lanka	160
5.4.1	Prior to colonization.....	160
5.4.2	Post-colonial period	163
5.5	Impact of Fault on the cases of recovery of personal injury ..	165
5.6	Conclusion	174

6 SOCIAL CONTRACT: A PATHWAY FOR TRUE PERSONAL SECURITY?.....177

6.1	Introduction.....	177
6.2	Understanding ‘Justice’ in the context of personal injury victims	178
6.2.1	Justice: the concept	179
6.3	The theory of Social Contract.....	182
6.3.1	The legitimacy of the theory of social contract	186
6.3.2	Applicability of social contract in the area of personal injury: The Rationale.....	187
6.4	Mobilising social contract and dispensing justice in comparative jurisdictions	194
6.4.1	New Zealand	195
6.4.2	South Africa.....	207
6.4.3	The United Kingdom (UK).....	222
7	CONCLUSION AND THE WAY FORWARD	246
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	254